1 This candidate returned a questionnaire, but did not provide an answer to any of the questions. The candidate did, however, include the following message.

I believe every human being has the right to choose for themselves what is right, if properly educated in the pro's & con's.

Someone might note that it takes a lot of faith to believe the above especially after 70 million abortions (since 1973) and in light of the history of American slavery. These are just two examples of what happens when the right to choose is substituted for just laws.
